

Don't Build A Snowman!

An activity to promote musical focus.

How To Use

This activity is great for helping young students to stay focused on certain points while playing their pieces. The goal is to NOT build a snowman.

Let the students know what they are to focus on while playing a particular piece (e.g., counting correctly, using correct fingers, including the dynamics etc.).

Let them know that missing any of the points you specified, will contribute to the building of the snowman. (There are 5 steps to building the snowman, so they are "allowed" 4 mistakes).

If the snowman gets a face before they have finished their piece, it's game over! Try again 😊.
